

ICCCAD and IUB E-Lecture Series

20th June 2021

7pm-8pm Dhaka Time(GMT/UTC+6)/
9am-10am NY,USA Time (GMT/UTC -4)

IUB
Independent University,
Bangladesh

LECTURE ON “EXPERTISE AND EXCLUSIVITY: WHO DECIDES WHAT TO DO ABOUT ADAPTATION IN BANGLADESH?” BY DANIELLE FALZON

Photo by the Riverbank of Pasur River, Mongla Port Municipality courtesy of Rukhsar Sultana

Danielle Falzon
PhD Candidate in Sociology at Brown
University

Danielle Falzon is a PhD Candidate in Sociology at Brown University. Her work focuses on power and inequality in decision-making on climate change. In her dissertation research she examines the emergence and effects of adaptation in Bangladesh, focusing at the meso-level on organizations that determine how adaptation takes place.

Danielle is affiliated with ICCCAD as the visiting researcher for the centre. Additionally, she has greatly contributed to the Gobeshona conference including serving as the head rapporteur and editor for the Global Global Conference proceeding.

Designated Discussants:

Celine d’Cruz, Urban Development Practitioner and Visiting Researcher, International Centre for Climate Change and Development (ICCCAD)

Istiakh Ahmed, Program Coordinator, Locally Led Adaptation & Resilience, International Centre for Climate Change and Development (ICCCAD)

Moderator:

Prof. Saleemul Huq, Director, International Centre for Climate Change and Development (ICCCAD)

The ICCCAD and IUB E - lecture series is a series of monthly, online lectures with renowned experts working in the field of climate change and development. The lectures provide an opportunity to share knowledge and have discussions on important topics and issues relevant to the climate change discourse.

For queries contact: Rukhsar Sultana, Email: rukhsar.sultana@icccad.org